Devoted to the Up-Building of Gleichen and the Development of the District Generally

Year I., No. 28.

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1907.

ELEVATOR LIST ALMOST FILLED

The securing of the elevator for Gleichen is now practically assured as will be seen by the names that have been added to the list during the past week given below:

J. E. Ostrander
W. H. McPhee
B. Wichart
E. Griesbach
F. K. McKay
J. A. Beaupre
J. T. Johnston
D. C. Wishart
T. Henderson
R. L. Shaw
A. R. Wallace
John Defoe
J. Jacques
W. P. Evans
W. R. McKie
E. H. Riley
E. H. Riley
W. H. James
T. H. Beach
J. A. Renaud
Millie & Wilson
F. H. Blackburn
A. R. Yates
G. W. Hunter
J. H. Walker
Poe & Young

Mr. McDonald has already been advised of the position of affairs and he is now negotiating with the C. P. R. for the site for the elevator, which will be settled and a definite move towards actual construction commenced so soon as the details of the agreement have been fully settled.

Until these details have been fully settled there is little to be said further than that the Gleichen people are to be congratulated upon their enterprise, for enterprise it sorely is at the present moment. Further, if the whole scheme is carried out—and there is no reason to think it will not be—the mill will be ready to grind by the time our next crop is ready, and they will be repaid for their present outlay.

Will Raise Hogs

Practically speaking there are but few hogs in the Gleichen district, but in the near future there is every reason to believe this will be entirely changed and we may look for no small revenue from this source.

This district has all of the advantages for raising hogs that any district in Alberta has and some advantages that others cannot claim.

It is an ill wind that does not blow some good and even though we have to admit some of our grain is not up to the standard this very fact has induced a number of our farmers to become producers of pork in future in place of consumers only as in the past and at present.

A number of our farmers got together and sent Mr. J. L. Skeen up to Red Deer last week and he returned Saturday with a car containing 12 young hogs of a very fine breed. They are a mixed bunch, with the "Yorkshire" breed predominating and the "Chester White" a close second. These hogs are all "feeders" from two to five months old.

They have been purchased by a number of different farmers, Messrs. Buckley, Allgood, McMillan & Allen and Hayes Bros. being the heaviest buyers and the Demonstration Farm are keeping quite a number of them.

These farmers will have their grain of inferior quality crushed and feed it and thus make a good profit. Pork is now on the rise and they will be sure to get a big price for what they sell.

produce and any that cannot be disposed of in town a much larger market awaits them at Calgary than they can possibly supply in fresh pork alone, to say nothing of the opportunity of supplying the packing houses.

The farmers who already have hogs—and a few have been raising them for several years—invariably report it a very profitable business and the wonder is that raising hogs is not much more general than it is in this district. No doubt the main reason is that in a new district like this the intention is good but there are so many duties connected with getting started that this has been allowed to stand.

Now, however the move is likely to become quite general as well as profitable and with safety it may be predicted that in a short while hog raising will rank with our most productive businesses.

Our Plum Tree Belt

Jno. Clark, Jr. gave The Call a pleasant call Tuesday and in the course of conversation he was asked how his plum trees turned out this year, and he replied:

"The plum trees are fine, healthy trees and doing fine. There was a number of plums on the trees this year, but I regret to say they were knocked off by the light hail we had at Crowfoot when quite green. However, I look for good plums next year and think the 'Plum Tree Belt' will yet prove good."

Continuing Mr. Clark said he had a number of very healthy looking apple trees of hardy variety that were to young yet to bear any fruit, although he fully believed that they would in due time bear.

He said he had an excellent crop this year of goose berries and currants. In fact that the branches were loaded to the ground with fine large fruit. His experience with raspberries had not been so successful as the goose berries and currants yet they bore some berries. His strawberries also bore but he thought to make them a success he should have bees. In order to keep bees he had found by experience it would be necessary to grow clover, and his time was too limited in connection with horse breeding to give all these matters full attention.

He fully believes our Plum Tree Belt will prove all right.

Queenstown Happenings

Messrs. F. E. Robertson, M. Munroe, Ira Miller and Neal Synde made a trip to High River to unload the Pioneer Threshing Company's machine. They moved it out about six miles in the country, where they expect to do some threshing before coming here.

O. P. Solberg made a business trip to Calgary.

F. E. Robertson made a trip to Calgary.

Mrs. A. Olson is on a visit to her old home in North Dakota.

Ole Nelson and A. Olson were visitors to Gleichen Tuesday.

Stacking is getting pretty well along in this vicinity now.

W. H. Robertson has engaged the services of A. Godkin and J. Stewart to help stack his bountiful crop.

Messrs. A. G. Saunders and T. Page of Manitoba drove through here from High River in quest of land, and were well pleased with the country.

W. F. Durston and two boys arrived with a carload of effects on Saturday from Bisbee, North Dakota, and they have taken up their residence in the Cosgrave Block. Mrs. Durston is expected to arrive in a few days. Mr. Durston has taken up a homestead in the Queenstown district and will allow his family the advantages of Gleichen's school while he is busy fencing and erecting buildings on his land this winter.

TOWN AND DISTRICT

Geo. H. Walsh of the C. P. I. Co., arrived with a party of land seekers Saturday consisting of J. Johnston of Bendleton, Oregon, J. H. Ellis of Calfax, Wash., A. Ebbige, H. O'Neil and J. Arnold and wife. All but one of the party purchased land and the one man could not find a tract large enough to suit him. Mr. Arnold purchased 240 acres north of town. They are former neighbors of N. W. McMillan and met several other acquaintances here. The entire party were very much pleased with all they saw here.

C. Fairchild's survey party consisting of G. R. Marston assistant engineer, L. Thomas, W. L. Dickinson, F. G. Mortimer and A. Foster left here Monday for Edmonton, where they will survey timber limits north of Pembina for a couple of months. They have completed the survey of all but two townships of Dominion land along the Red Deer river this season and will be back next spring to complete the survey.

Messrs. C. J. Bray, W. H. James, T. H. Beach and A. R. Yates went antelope hunting on Thursday last, returning to town Monday with two good specimens. Messrs. Bray and James were the successful hunters, which goes to show the tenderest from B. C. have yet to learn a few things about prairie hunting—they did not even sight game, if they had, well, there would be some good stories for The Call.

Messrs. Millie & Wilson last week, on their farm close to town, cut one of the finest fields of oats in this district. Some men who have seen it estimate it will run 100 bushels to the acre, but the owners are not quite so sanguine and think this may be a little too high. However, it is a magnificent crop and the threshing is awaited with interest.

R. L. Borden and party passed through Gleichen Friday morning, but failed to get off even to talk to a few of the faithful who were at the station. Borden will be forgiven this time, but he must never let such a thing occur again—Gleichen has many budding politicians.

Jas. Knudson is boring for water at Roy Allen's residence. Last week he had the misfortune to lose his "bucket" at the bottom of the well just after striking water at bed rock and consequently had to start in drilling a new well, but succeeded in getting out all of the casing.

Rudyard Kipling and wife passed through Gleichen early Friday morning. It is feared Rudyard was too sleepy to take in the sights of this wide awake town, which is to be regretted as otherwise it was hoped the great poet would weave a few lines of verse for Gleichen.

M. Ravey, wife and family of Basgano left on Sunday to visit their old home at Limerick, Ireland, and will return next spring. Mrs. Ravey and children spent a couple of days visiting Mrs. Henroth at Gleichen before leaving.

The round grain stacks on Messrs. Poe & Young's farm just north of town are being favorably commented upon, and they certainly look very neat. The great beauty to these enterprising men is that they have plenty of them.

Messrs. Poe & Young took a trip to Claresholm and other towns south a week ago and state that from the grain they saw purchased by the elevators there the farmers here need worry little over disposing of their grain.

Messrs. Griesbach, Hoge, Fearman and Smith took in the Borden meeting at Calgary Friday night. They report that to hear their leader was well worth the trip.

Sunny Alberta is staying with us in all her beauty.

The fire engines are expected to arrive daily and when they do the Council will call a meeting of the ratepayers to consider the situation caused by their long delay.

The time for receiving tenders for teaming of material to the bridge to be built over the Bow river has been extended to Oct. 12th. Already several tenders have been sent in.

In New York somebody is killed every fifteen hours by the street cars. Such a thing has never been known to occur in Gleichen. Moral: Live in Gleichen.

Hayes Bros. new farm house north of town is about completed and they expect to occupy it by the end of this week. R. McMillan who is building it, states it is a good-sized house and will be very comfortable.

M. Brown has arrived from Nebraska and is preparing to open a general store at Nanaka and put in a lumber yard. He has ordered nine carloads of lumber and will at once start the erection of a store building.

Soon the Japs will make their way across the Rockies into Alberta and then we will know something of the feeling of the workmen in B. C. This is a serious question for Alberta and may it be seriously considered.

There is no open season for shooting "knockers" in Alberta—more's the pity. If there was an open season for shooting human reptiles some one could get a couple of weeks good shooting in this province.

British Columbia continues to get hard knocks for the riot with the Orientals. Such things should not be. Yet, is there any other province in Canada that would not riot if 10,000 Orientals were dumped into it knowing there were untold thousands to follow?

D. Gillespie, formerly proprietor of the Gleichen Hotel, returned from a trip to his home in Ontario last week and spent a day in town with his friends. He has purchased an hotel at North Battleford where he will reside in future.

J. M. Telford has presented The Call with some of the finest potatoes we have ever seen, and these have been on exhibition at the Post Office Drug Store since Saturday. They are of the "White Elephant" variety and eight of them average in weight two pounds, four ounces, the largest weighing two pounds, ten and a half ounces. Any person who has doubts as to what can be done in vegetable growing in this district should not fail to see these potatoes for they are beauties.

When a man in search of a home or business location goes to a town and finds everybody full of hope and enthusiasm over the prospects of the place, he, too, soon becomes imbued with the same spirit, drives down his stakes and goes to work with equal interest.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

A meeting of the Gleichen and District Board of Trade was held in J. J. Marshall's office Tuesday with President Emil Griesbach in the chair.

There were several interesting discussions indulged in and it was decided to circulate a petition for signatures to be presented to J. L. Lawrence, C. P. R. superintendent at Medicine Hat, asking him to have all passenger trains stop at Gleichen as usual, as No. 96 has not been stopping here regularly for some time past, much to the inconvenience of the travelling public.

The names of Messrs. E. C. Henroth and R. H. Hoge were duly voted upon as members of the Board.

Considerable discussion was indulged in concerning the new fire engines and several other much-needed improvements for the town, but no action was taken as it was stated a meeting of the ratepayers would be called shortly to consider these matters.

OBSERVATIONS

BY "LITTLE MACK"

Governor Hughes of the great state of New York in his various addresses throughout that state has said much that warrants repetition, but he never gave expression to anything more advised or pertinent than the following terse, and logical admonition:

"Wealth cannot last unless there is justice in the community from which it is obtained. Capital has no security except as people deal fairly and justly in its acquisition."

In this there is a text for the millionaire as well as the crusader against wealth. The prosperity of the nation is dependent upon its honesty and industry. Corruption and injustice corrode and destroy. Ancient history teems with the record of nations destroyed by greed, lust, avarice and immorality. There was no justice in these wrecked Empires, only the rule of might, hence, decadence marks them for her own, and history writes their epitaph in obloquy. In a sense, there is little room for choice between such tactics and the confiscatory mania so prevalent in the United States. The injustice done the railroads in many states is a blow to wealth and a menace to industry, and a direct injury to many investors. Cripple the railroads and you arrest the chief promoters of the country's commerce. Drive them out of business and you destroy it. There is no justice in this, yet billions of dollars are at stake. The aftermath no man may well foretell; and while it is true that the shameless behavior of some capitalists unleashed this fury of chastisement and resentment there is no justification for the general and indiscriminating campaign against that without which industry would be paralyzed and commerce destroyed. The people must deal justly, that is equally with the man of little and the man of much wealth. Likewise, the man of much wealth must obey the laws with the same readiness and willingness evinced by those less fortunate. That is his highest guarantee and when the people perceive it, they will accord him every security.

Another week's testimony on the outlook of the country gives the cheerful assurance that the volume is satisfactory, the demand at leading jobbing markets, good, general trade actively brisk, in many sections exceeding last year's returns. Farm staples have risen in price owing to foreign demands, and the increased revenues of the farmers therefrom will benefit other lines of industry and trade. Crop reports are more encouraging daily, and collections show improvement in various localities.

M. McDONALD.

IRRIGATION IN NORTHERN CLIMATES

Irrigation has practically unified the sentiment of manufacturers, merchants and transportation agencies in the support of the propaganda of the small farm. The latter had its advocates fifty years ago, and some few isolated practical demonstrations; but with the new even of intelligent men, it remained nothing but a theory. The business sympathies of the manufacturer and merchant were given to the man with the big farm, as being a large consumer, a better customer, a shipper of much freight. Now all these find it demonstrated by numerous prosperous communities, on every irrigated area, that a hundred farms of ten acres give them nearly a hundred times as much business as one farm of a thousand acres.

There is a general impression that irrigation is only useful in southern, hot, dry countries, and is not applicable as an aid to agriculture in northern latitudes. It was naturally first adopted in countries where, without the artificial watering of crops, their growth was impossible. But the principle has now extended until irrigation is practised more or less in every country, and even in districts of extreme rainfall it has been found of benefit.

Irrigation and fruit growing seem to be so interwoven in the public mind that it is often a difficult matter to secure an intelligent hearing for irrigation in districts where fruit growing is not the leading industry. It is argued that so much expense is necessary upon surface work and the application of water that the ordinary hardy forage and cereal crops will not yield a sufficient revenue to make irrigation a paying undertaking.

In considering the possibilities of irrigation in northerly latitudes, it is, however, well to bear in mind the fact that the State of Montana, where the conditions are almost identical with Southern Alberta, raises more agricultural products under irrigation than the States of Oregon, Washington and Wyoming combined; as much as the State of Utah, and half as much as the State of Colorado. Enormous irrigation development is now taking place in Northern Montana, by and under the direction of the United States Government, which will place that state in the front rank of irrigation countries. In fact, unmistakable evidence is visible on all sides to the effect that the largest area of irrigable lands in America will presently be located among the rich agricultural lands of northerly latitudes, and under sub-humid climatic conditions.

MIXED FARMING

The Provincial Department of Agriculture should do all it can, says the Calgary Herald to promote poultry production, fattening chickens, and the production of eggs during the season that they are scarce and consequently high priced. The question of winter production of butter might also with advantage to the general prosperity of the Province be urged to the possible maximum. There are always high prices obtainable for such during the winter and spring.

It is claimed by many that a very large percentage of our settlers seem unwilling to engage in those farming operations which entail daily attention throughout the entire year. In short, mixed farming in Alberta has so far not been carried on to anything like the extent that it is possible and desirable. No agricultural community can at all equal a first-class mixed farming one for stability. Cash returns come in throughout the entire year. There is also fairly steady occupation, which is not the case in a district wholly devoted to grain production, where for two or three months of the year, quadruple the number of hands are required that can be profitably employed during the balance.

Assuming that the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta devote themselves largely to grain production, where, in a few years, is the labor to be obtained to harvest and thresh the crops? Another serious consideration is the congestion and demoralization of railway traffic that annually arises from the demand for grain transportation immediately after harvest.

It is in the best interests of the Province that mixed farming, carried to its furthest possible profitable extent, should be encouraged. The Agricultural Department cannot too soon begin to bring about that condition.

Every school boy knows that a kite would not fly unless it had a string tying it down. It is just so in life. The man who is tied down by half a dozen blooming responsibilities and their mother, will make a higher and stronger flight than the bachelor, who has nothing to keep him steady is always floundering in the mud. If you want to succeed in the world, tie yourself to something.

AN UNFORTUNATE ENGINEER

Surveyor J. Chandler Is Pronounced
Dangerously Insane

Engineer J. Chandler who has been in charge of the irrigation ditch survey at Gleichen for a couple of years past is an unfortunate man and has been declared insane. The following is from the Calgary Daily News:

J. Chandler, the insane man who was taken in charge by the city police when creating a disturbance in the C. P. R. irrigation offices, was brought before his worship Crispin E. Smith at the police court. When his name was called Chandler said: "No, sir, you've got the wrong man. Chandler is my twin brother, and I can't get his boots on. He wears sevens." He leaned back in his chair and quietly laughed to himself. He said they had taken his brother to the Minneapolis insane asylum.

Dr. Sullivan stated that he had medically examined Chandler and found him to be insane, and that he was dangerous to be at large. The witness said that Chandler came up to him in the Royal Hotel previous to his being taken to the police barracks and said he had a diamond worth $75,000.

The defendant here arose and interrupted the court by saying he was a mining engineer and had been a mining engineer over 21 years.

"I graduated from the chain gang and have been in jail fifteen times," Officer Douglass deposed that he was called to the C. P. R. irrigation offices and found the defendant with a knife in his hand. "I was paring my finger-nails," interrupted Chandler. When Officer Nutt came to assist Douglass, Chandler said "You can't have me," and went into the vault. The defendant: "A good place to get."

He had an open knife and a small file in his hand and defied the constables to take him, and used bad language. The witness considered he was in a dangerous condition, and said he would use the knife if the officer came in. Chandler: "So I would,"—and turning to Dr. Sullivan asked him if he was a specialist on insanity.

Officer Nutt corroborated Douglass' evidence and said he firmly believed that Chandler was dangerous to be at large. Chandler: "I didn't know who those men were. I thought that they were C. P. R. men sent by Mr. Jamieson. I have instructed my lawyer to sue the Alberta for $50,000." Continuing he said that he knew Bill Miner and that Bill had been paid by the Grand Trunk Railway to hold up C. P. R. trains and they would not let him out till the C. P. R. paid reward. "Bill is now living up in Edmonton or somewhere in the backwoods."

"I look something like my brother, only his forehead is wrinkled, and he wears a quarter larger hat than I do, and I couldn't wear his shoes."

"I was chained in the cradle when my brother was insane and Mrs. George Chandler wouldn't believe I was her son."

The magistrate will commit Chandler to the insane asylum to await the pleasure of the attorney-general.

THE WORLD A STAGE

Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone!
For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth,

But has troubles enough of its own.
Sing, and the hills will answer;
Sigh, it is lost on the air—
The echoes bound, to a joyful sound,
But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice, and men will seek you;
Grieve, and they turn and go
They want full measure of all you pleasure.

But they do not need your woes.
Be glad, and your friends are many,
Be sad, and you lose them all.

There are none to decline your nectar'd wine,
But alone you drink life's gall.

Feast, and your halls are crowded;
Fast, and the world goes by
Succeed and give, and it helps you live,
But no man can help you die.

There is no room in the halls of pleasure
For a large and lordly train
But one by one we must all file on,
Through the narrow aisles of pain.

The Post Office Drug Store, A. R. YATES, Proprietor.

The busy men and women of the world are they who have attained to greatness. Many such have endured hardships and practiced rigid economy to enable them to meet the demands of a large family and the greatest men this country has produced have been men who have labored with hands and brain, after acquiring a competency, remembering the years that are gone, admit that their working years were their happiest years.

Much of the so-called friendship of the day is but pretence. It exists only in name and as soon as it ceases to be advantageous it is dropped. The friendship that continues the same in prosperity and adversity is to be prized, but all other kinds are worthless. It matters not how hard a man may struggle to do right and make a success of life there is always some loathsome reptile, some worthless wretch who is ready to drag him down, to blight his hopes and blast his fondest ambitions. The loss of money and property is not the greatest loss a man can sustain in the business world; far better to lose your money than to lose hope and ambition.

The greater a man grows the bigger the target he offers for the shafts of envy.

"The Best in the West"

Do you know what it cost me to be able to write the above?

Fourteen years continuous study and practice.
Five Post Graduate courses in New York, Chicago, Buffalo, Toronto and Seattle.
Hours of study and experiment when my professional brothers were out with the other lucky ones enjoying themselves.
Thousand of dollars where hundreds are generally spent in dental education.

But, pshaw, knowing what I do I can honestly say:

"It was worth while after all!"
